Subject:-

The History of Coal Mining in Ayrshire

by

John Rattenbury.

This most revealing and informative talk looks at how coal has been mined through the ages with a particular reference to Ayrshire. We will be looking at how it all started with the geological formation of the coal fields, the early days of coal mining and how the process of mining and recovery evolved over time. We will also talk about the people involved, the terrible conditions under which they worked and the sacrifices many of them made.
