Foreword

Welcome to this, our first Access Guide to Maybole and Girvan.

South Ayrshire has been a tourist attraction for many years and this Guide is intended to inform both visitors and residents of the accessibility of the shops, amenities and essential services Maybole and Girvan have to offer.

This guide has been produced by the South Ayrshire Access Panel which seeks to improve the quality of life of disabled people by creating a barrier-free environment within South Ayrshire.

Whilst this Guide encompasses the towns of Maybole and Girvan, other Guides are available for Troon, Prestwick and Ayr Town centre and electronic versions are available on the South Ayrshire Access Panel website;
www.south-ayrshire-access-panel.org.uk.

All the Guides will be subject to up-dates and modifications and we welcome your suggestions and comments.

The Panel would like to thank the Guide editor Margaret Shearer and the many other people who have been associated with the research work, compilation and production of this Guide.

We would especially like to thank South Ayrshire Council for their excellent administrative support and assistance and generous cooperation in the production of this guide.

Mike Ankers

Chairman of the South Ayrshire Access Panel.

Welcome to South Ayrshire

South Ayrshire is situated in the south west of Scotland, extending from Troon and Symington in the north to Ballantrae and Loch Ryan in the south. Included in this attractive area are the towns of Ayr, Prestwick, Troon, Maybole and Girvan, together with an extensive rural area containing many small, often remote villages

It is an attractive area, with rich, rolling farmland, woodlands and forests, and a rugged sea coastline. The area is steeped in history and culture, with links to William Wallace and Robert the Bruce. It's a land of ancient abbeys, castles and historic houses and also boasts strong literary connections with Robert Burns.

Maybole is the ancient capital of Carrick. It is a small town built on a sloping hillside overlooking the Southern Uplands with magnificent views of rolling hills. You can find further information about the history of the town and its surrounding area, as well as places of interest shown in a selection of photographs, by checking out the website www.maybole.org

A wide range of leisure and sporting facilities are available with numerous golf courses including the world famous Royal Troon and Turnberry. For those who wish to enjoy sport from a spectator's point of view, one of the main features is Ayr Racecourse, Scotland's top horse racing centre which offers more racing days than any other Scottish course. During the summer months the world's last sea-going paddle steamer PS Waverley sails on a variety of half and full day cruises on the Firth of Clyde.

Situated on the beautiful Clyde Coast, South Ayrshire has it all and more. Beautiful scenery, fascinating history, outdoor activities, some of the finest golf courses in the world, superior accommodation and gourmet dining. Ancient castles, stunning country parks and gardens, bustling market towns and captivating visitor attractions are all on offer.

How to use this guide:

For many people with disabilities information is the key to independent living. The purpose of this guide is to provide information for the independence of all people with disabilities visiting the town centres of Maybole and Girvan.

For ease of locating shops and buildings we have laid out this guide in order of type of service /shop.

Go to the A-Z of services on page 37 and choose the service that you require i.e. restaurants.

Alongside the service you have chosen you will find a page number.

Under the service you have chosen you may find a whole list of service providers or just a few.

Find the desired service/shop and using the "key to symbols" guide decide which service/shop suits your needs.

This access guide is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the facilities in each building or shop but it is hoped that it will be of use for members of the community who have disabilities.

The intention of this guide is only to give information on building accessibility and inclusion is not meant as a recommendation by the South Ayrshire Access Panel. The guide contents are based on access information available in early 2007 which may have altered before or following publication.

Whilst every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information the Access Panel cannot accept liability or responsibility for any changes or omissions that have been made.

Any information which may assist in maintaining the accuracy is welcomed. In addition this version is available on our web site.

If you have any comments or suggestions to make feel free to contact the Panel at the address below or on our web site.

It's a land of ancient abbeys, castles and historic houses and also boasts strong literary connections with Robert Burns.

Girvan's harbour is a base for the fishing industry and today offers convenient mooring facilities for visiting yachts. From there you can set off for a days sea angling or a pleasure trip around Ailsa Craig, the plug of an extinct volcano and now a bird sanctuary. Recreational facilities in the town include an indoor swimming pool, a boating lake, putting green, children's playing areas, and parks with many attractive floral plantings. Further information on the town and activities can be found on the website www.girvan-online.net

Ayr Shopmobility

Ayr Shopmobility is a recognised Scottish charity, which has, since 1995 been providing a valuable service to over 5000 people each year in Ayrshire.

The service enables easy access to the shopping and leisure facilities with Ayrshire, but mainly Ayr Town Centre, to any members of the public, of any age, who are suffering from a temporary or permanent disability.

Wheelchairs and scooters, both manual and powered are provided FREE OF CHARGE although a donation would be very much appreciated. For anyone who has never used a powered wheelchair or scooter, experienced staff are on hand and happy to give full training.

It is important for anyone wishing to use the service to register first and this is done simply by calling in at the Shopmobility office with some form of ID which shows your address. Visitors to the area are also welcome to use this service.

Sight guides are available for people with sensory impairments and companion shopping escorts are available to assist pushing wheelchairs and help with shopping but these escorts must be booked in advance.

Shopmobility also run a minibus service, which again must be booked in advance (minimum 24 hours).

The bus will pick you up from your home, bring you in to use the equipment and return you to your home. One carer may travel with you if required. For easy access, the bus is fitted with a hydraulic lift.

Equal Access in Maybole & Girvan

South Ayrshire Council is delighted to support this new "Accessible Maybole and Girvan" guide produced by South Ayrshire Access Panel. It is a quick way to locate premises that have easy access and provide facilities for people with additional needs or a disability.

For a number of years South Ayrshire Council has been making changes in public buildings to provide easy access for all to try to ensure that everyone can receive the available services.

On many occasions when it has not been physically possible to adapt some older buildings alternative provisions have been made.

Improvements carried out within many Council premises include new entrances, accessible toilet facilities, reception areas that are easier to use, improved lighting and clearer signs.

The Council is committed to continuing improvements to its buildings and services to make them as accessible as possible.
